GEN. M. JEFF. THOMPSON, late of the Confederate service, has recently expounded his view of the condition of those who took up arms against the Government. He has no idea they held the two alternatives, either of establishing a Government to suit their peculiar wishes, or of submitting to the old Government with all their former rights unimpaired. As a soldier, he knows that war means something; that it settles questions, not according to statutes, but according to necessities; and that in cases of unsuccessful rebellion the baffled insurgents have nothing left them but to leave the country or stay in it on such terms as may be prescribed.

EX-GOVERNOR BROWN, of Georgia, in a speech which he recently delivered at Milledgeville, took occasion to repudiate all former allegiance to political parties, and to declare that in the future he should act with that party whose principles and policy tended most directly, in his judgment, to restore the prosperity of the South, and of the whole country. The foremost minds of the South are all strongly inclining in this direction, and this renders it certain that before long the bulk of the people will yield to the same impulse.

GEN. LONGSTREET'S recent letters on Reconstruction have raised a storm in the Southern journals against him. But, newspaper squall at the South no more indicates what public sentiment in that section actually is, than such commotions do at the North. Recently there have been two or three squalls in the Northern journals, which only signified that many editors ran without being sent. There was no such boisterousness among the people.

THE religious ceremonies at Rome in honor of the eighteen hundredth anniversary of St. Peter's martyrdom, commenced on Saturday night. The demonstration, from all accounts, must be grand and gorgeous. Rome was illuminated and the great St. Peters Church was lavishly decorated and lighted. It is stated there were upwards of one hundred thousand persons in the Church during service.

THE PRESIDENT, in the language of Mr. Seward, made an "impressive speech" on the Constitution at Annapolis, on Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Seward on the differences of the people and of the Atlantic, North and South Atlantic and Pacific States. Both of the gentlemen have arrived in Washington.

THE public breakfast tendered Wm. Lloyd Garrison by the friends of liberty in England, was held at St. James Hall, London, on Saturday. It was a perfect ovation, some four hundred ladies and gentlemen being in attendance.

THE CHOLERA has made its appearance in Memphis, Tenn. There can hardly be any doubt but that the dread pestilence will visit this city, and few places in the country are so ilfy prepared for it.

A NEWSPAPER is to be started in Chicago, devoted to the interests of the Congregational churches. It will be called the Advance, and present an appearance similar to the Evangelist of New York.

THE suicide mania continues to prevail in all sections of the country.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Captain John Cowgill, of Easton, Md., is enlisting colored volunteers there for the State militia, having one company recruited in full, and names for several others.

—A tract of land in Sussex county, Virginia, on the Norfolk and Petersburg road, containing 1,330 acres, more or less, has been sold for the sum of $4,000, to John F. Eccne, Esq., of Kent county, Md.

—Retired Burglars are generally not in a position conveniently to use the communication of their ideas to the public. A "retired burglar," however, gives some good advice to Chicago people about locking up their houses.

—The Clover Hill coal mines, in Virginia, which were the scene of such terrible explosions recently, will soon be working in order. The fire has been extinguished, and the preparations to resume work are being made rapidly.

—A Canadian paper suggests that the Fenian prisoners be liberated on the first day of July—that whereon the British Province became a Dominion or Confederation. It will be a very graceful and gracious thing for the new Government to do.

—A rail passed Memphis, Tennessee, last week, which would, if placed on dry land, cover over "one acre and a quarter." It was composed of 527 tiers, averaging each 50 feet, and containing in all about 1,300,000 square feet of finely seasoned cypress.

—A distinguished New York divine, pressed to go to Europe, is angry upon his return to find his substitute so much preferred by his parishioners that they propose to retain him and let the "original Jacobus" go. Such action will stop a great deal of broncuitis.

—Street railways seem to have but a sickly existence in some of the New England cities. In Worcester, Mass., the horse railroad cost $100,000 four years ago, and during never paid, its owners have offered to sell it for $60,000, but cannot get subscriptions for a greater sum than $40,000.

—According to a recent return made to Parliament, the total number of privates present at the last militia reviews in Great Britain was 39,981. The number enlistments in the various militia corps during the year ending March 31st, 1866, and the amount paid for those enlistments was $130,000.

—An exchange says it is a very discouraging thing to edit a newspaper, in consequence of the general dearth of news. The editor adds that he has found a nice story about a minister leaving a wife and nine children and running away with a girl of sixteen; and just as the story is fully chronicled, and the illustrated papers are altering their old pictures into portraits of the belligerents, the whole matter comes back contradicted.

From Europe by Steamer.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The steamship City of Baltimore, from Liverpool on the 19th, and Queenstown on the 20th, arrived this evening.

At a meeting of the creditors of Frasier, Trenholm & Co., in Liverpool, on the 18th, a statement was read, from which it appears their gross liabilities are 1,218,000 pounds; unsecured 391,000 pounds; estimated assets 262,000 pounds. Mr. C. H. Prideaux's private estate, after payment of private claims, showed a 90s pounds assets.

In the House of Commons, on the 19th, on the subject of the Birmingham riots, Mr. Hardy said he believed the real culprits in these transactions had been very numerous. They did not exceed fifteen hundred, and he was afraid that no steps would be taken against these persons who were the real originators of the disturbances.

THE CATHOLIC ASSEMBLY—THE POPE'S ALLOCUTION.

ROME, May 27.—The Pope held a public consistory this day, at which were over four hundred Catholic Bishops from every part of the world. The Pope delivered an allocution to the assembled Prelates, in the course of which he praised their great zeal in coming to Rome from such distances, this evincing attachment and devotional obedience to the Holy Father. He said the example shown to the world by the union of churches at large in the celebration of the Canonization of the Martyrs of Japan, and the eighteenth centenary anniversary of St. Peter's martyrdom, would show forth to its enemies the immense power the Church wields on earth. His Holiness confirmed the Papal condemnation of the errors of the act of October 2th, 1865. He also expressed a desire to convene, at an early day, a general council of Bishops with a view to deliberate on the best means to repair the rules which oppress the Church just now. The Holy Father closed his allocution by imparting the Pontifical benediction to the Bishops.

AMERICAN PRELATES AND BISHOPS—PRESENTATION OF CONTRIBUTIONS.

ROME, June 28.—There are a great many more arrivals of Catholic Prelates and Laymen. There are four hundred and fifty Arch-Bishops and Bishops, with about thirty thousand clergymen and members of the different religious orders in the Eternal City.

From the United States there are noticed Arch-Bishops Spaulding, of Baltimore, Kenwick, of St. Louis, Oden, of New Orleans, Purcell, of Cincinnati, and Bishop Wood, of Philadelphia, with twenty-two Bishops from other American dioceses in the British territory and the Union.

When the Pope received the American Prelates and Clergy at audience, they presented him two hundred thousand dollars in gold coin; also a model of the American yacht Henrietta, in silver. The yacht was magnificently rigged with gold pieces to the amount of fifty thousand dollars, contributed by the people of the Arch-Episcopal Province of Cincinnati. The presentation of the model was by Bishop Wood, of Philadelphia.

The Pope, in lifting the model of the Henrietta from the case, said, with a generous smile, "non sin vapore." It is not a steamer, or as the words are more freely translated, it is not all vapor or steam, alluding to the golden cargo. To the clergy, his Holiness said he had only pleasant words to say. American prosperity was unbounded, he complimented them on their progress, religious and civil, and most cheerful manners, and spoke in the very highest terms of General Rufus King, Minister of the United States in Rome, and of his father, Professor King, who now lies at the point of death.

Archbishops Spalding and Purcell have been named on the committee to reply on behalf of the Catholic world to the Pope's allocution. The Council will probably meet in November. Archbishop Purcell will be assigned a post of honor on the right hand of the Pope at the grand St. Peter ceremony, on Saturday. Every attention is being shown to Americans.

THE CEREMONIES—GRAND, GORGEOUS—UNEQUALED SINCE THE DAYS OF SOLOMON.

The Herald's Rome special says the religious ceremonies in the celebration of the 1800th anniversary of St. Peter's martyrdom, and St. Paul's canonization of twenty-five Dutch, French and Spanish martyrs in Japan as Saints, was one of those most gorgeous witnessed in the world since the days of King Solomon. The observances commenced with a general illumination of the city. St. Peters was like a great church on fire. At seven o'clock A. M. there was a grand procession of prelates, priests, monks and soldiers from the Vatican to St. Peters. The Pope was carried on his throne. St. Peters was magnificently decorated with cloths of gold, silver tapestries, painting, and twenty thousand yards of crimson silk. The building was lighted with many millions of wax candles. Twenty hundred Archbishops, Bishops and priests of the Catholic world, including the ex-people in Mexico, Foreign Ministers, five hundred Cardinals and Arch Bishops. Many thousand clergymen, priests, monks, nuns, and soldiers from all parts of the world were present.

The Pope celebrated Gregorian Mass in Latin and Greek. Two interruptions occurred. The curtain of one of the windows took fire but was promptly extinguished. A man became crazed by the splendor and cried out in terror. The Pope at once re-consecrated the church stained with the blood of a suicide. Liszt composed the extra music for Grand Mass. The observances will continue a week.

DEVOTION TO THE POPE.

ROME, June 30.—The Holy Father, both before and after the grand religious solemnities celebrated yesterday, and wherever he appeared in public, was received with the most enthusiastic manifestations of attachment and devotion from the immense multitudes of clergymen and laymen gathered from all parts of the world.

ENGLAND.

BREAKFAST TO WM. LLOYD GARRISON.

LONDON, June 29—Evening.—A breakfast was tendered to the distinguished American, William Lloyd Garrison, in St. James Hall, to-day. A large number of people were present. The principal speakers were Mr. Bright and the Duke of Argyle. Friendly toasts were drank, and the affair was a perfect ovation.

The Herald's London special says the public breakfast was attended by four hundred ladies and gentlemen. Mr. Adams was absent. John Bright, in his speech, complimented Mr. Garrison for his services in the cause of emancipation.

The Duke of Argyle presented a welcome address, and expressed the hope that the attitude and friendly affection be maintained between England and the United States.

Speeches were also made by Mr. Garrison, Mr. Thompson, and others.

LONDON, June 30.—At the public breakfast, given in honor of William Lloyd Garrison, yesterday, a letter from the Count of Paris was read, which eulogized in warm terms the service done by Mr. Garrison in the cause of humanity and freedom. Mr. Adams, Minister of the United States, who was absent, also sent a letter, the tone of which was rather qualified and reserved.

CONGRESSMEN ARRIVING.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Members of Congress continue to arrive by every train. Eight or ten from the West arrived to-day. Some of these report others from that section on the way hither, and say confidently a quorum of both Houses will be in Washington on Wednesday. The attendance of Democratic members in their places on that day to answer to roll call and secure a quorum for business, is doubtful. The Republican members now here are all agreed that a bill supplementary to the reconstruction acts ought to be passed to clearly define the powers of the Military Commanders, but the way and the form is yet to be determined.

NOTICE TO GOVERNMENT BONDHOLDERS.

The Treasury Department has given notice to holders of Seven-Thirty notes that it is now prepared to give in exchange for them 6 per cent. gold bonds, issued under the act of March 3d, 1865, redeemable after five years, payable in twenty years from date. The interest on 5-20 bonds is now notified that the Department will consider they have waived the right to demand bonds for exchange for notes, unless presented for conversion by the 1st day of July, 1867. Seven-thirty notes transmitted for conversion must in every case be endorsed to the Treasurer of the party presenting, and must, also, when payable to another person, be endorsed by such payee or his duly authorized representative. Reported Execution of Maximilian—The City of Mexico Captured by the Liberals—Santa Anna Taken by Force from a Church.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—An Austrian steam sloop of war arrived at the South West Pass this morning, and landed with telegraphic dispatches for the Austrian Government. Her ensign was draped in deep mourning. This circumstance, and the reticence of her officers, gave rise to the report that the Emperor Maximilian had been executed. This, however, proves to be false. The intelligence is of great importance, and is confirmed by all the Mexican papers received by the steamer. They announce the capture of the City of Mexico by the Liberals, after a siege of 72 days. The fall of the city was followed by the capture of Santa Anna, who was taken by force from a church, where he had taken refuge. The Liberals are now in possession of the whole country. The Emperor Maximilian, Generals Miramon and Mejia, and Santa Anna, are all prisoners. Maximilian, Miramon and Mejia were tried by court martial, convicted and sentenced to be shot. The sentence was carried into effect on the 19th inst. Santa Anna was tried by the civil authorities, convicted and sentenced to be hung. The sentence was carried into effect on the 20th inst. The bodies of the executed were given to their friends for burial. Juarez and his Cabinet will enter the city in a few days. The Liberals have also captured Puebla, Queretaro, Guadalajara, Vera Cruz and other important cities. The Liberal army numbers 60,000 men, well armed and equipped. The Liberals have also captured a large amount of money and munitions of war. The Imperialists have surrendered unconditionally. The Liberals have established a Provisional Government, with Juarez at the head. Peace and prosperity are restored throughout the country.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Concerning Sheridan's Removal—Collector Kellogg Sustained.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—The statement that the President is denying Sheridan's removal is pronounced false by General Steedman.

Collector Kellogg's reply to charges preferred against him by Cutler and friends, is entirely satisfactory to the authorities at Washington, and approved by the whole commercial community.

The Herald's New Orleans special denies the report that General Steedman had requested the President to remove General Sheridan. General Sheridan has issued a special order, that the time for registration in Louisiana is not long enough. The time will be extended until further orders.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—The Secretary of War has authorized the issue of one thousand breach loading arms and fifteen thousand cartridges, from Leavenworth Arsenal, to the Union Pacific Railway Company, to enable them to enlist a force of laborers and working parties to protect themselves against Indian attacks. The Company have already received five hundred Spencer's rifles from the Ordnance Bureau.

Omaha dispatches say the case of the Kokuetz Brothers, bankers, vs. the American Exchange Bank of New York, when the treasure captured by the Indians two years ago, was argued before the United States Circuit Court, to-day.

Considerable trouble exists at Julesburg between the old settlers of that town and the Union Pacific Railway Company, in consequence of the latter trying to occupy lands squatted upon by the former. The squatters refuse to vacate the lands.

A report was current at Fort Hooker, last week, that General Custar, with a small body of cavalry, had been overpowered by a large force of Indians and the scouts all killed. The report is not well authenticated, but some credence is placed in it on account of so little having been heard of Custar's command for some time.

Workingmen's Mass Meeting.

Pursuant to notice, the Workingmen held a mass meeting on Saturday evening, in front of the Boilers' Union Hall, Fifth street. There was a large crowd collected and the proceedings were orderly. Mr. Joseph Chiverton presided, and after a short address from him, the following resolutions were submitted and adopted:

WHEREAS, Certain capitalists and manufacturers in the city of Pittsburgh and county of Allegheny have raised a fund designed to purchase importation of foreign laborers, to be brought to this city and county for the purpose of still further overstocking the labor market here, thereby, if possible, enforcing a reduction of the just wages of home skilled labor; and

WHEREAS, Purchased importations of foreign labor as above described have already reached the city of Pittsburgh and county of Allegheny; therefore

Resolved, That whilst the workingmen of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county do not object to ordinary from immigration of laborers into the United States from any country of the globe, neither do oppose and hereby emphatically protest against organized importations, specially secured by capitalists for the purpose of overstocking the labor market of any one locality, feeling, as they do, that such importations are inimical to the rights and interests of home, resulting hopelessly in the degradation of labor, and inevitably leading to pauperism and crime.

Resolved, That the workingmen of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county cherish no illfeeling toward the imported laborers, who have arrived, believing as they do, that false representations abroad induced them to come hither; they respectfully but earnestly demand that if imported workmen are to be employed at the expense of home laborers, they shall be placed by them on the same footing as to wages separate from those in which our home laborers toil. This much justice is certainly due to the producers, upon whose labor rests now constitute the wealth and power of Pittsburgh.

Resolved, That the workingmen of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County indorse the resolution of the New York Workingmen's Association, looking to the thorough organization of the National Labor party of the United States.

Speeches were made by George W. Rabel, editor of the Advocate, Miles Humphreys, W. Krepts, Thomas Grundy, and W. S. Mathews. The speakers devoted a good share of their remarks to the importation, by the Canadian Reports, of laborers from Europe. It was charged that the immigrants had been deluded by false representations. One speaker said he had seen a letter from some of the immigrants were told by the agent who employed them in Europe, that they could easily make enough in a few months, in Pittsburgh, to support them for a whole year in comfort; they were also informed that they could rent houses in Birmingham for fifteen dollars per year, with sufficient ground attached to raise all the vegetables they could use. The general tone of the meeting was that the importation of the arts employed by the iron masters in the vicinity was impolitic.

The chairman, in adjourning the meeting, announced that there would be another meeting held on Saturday evening, at Diamond, Allegheny, at which time action would be had in the submission of a legislative petition to the Legislature of the county.

Violent Death of an Insane Patient.

Saturday morning Mrs. Annie Ballou, aged about forty-five years, an insane patient from Erie county, confined at the Hospital at Dixmont, in Ohio township, received injuries in attempting to escape which resulted in her death on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. She was one of the more troublesome inmates, very strong in her eyes, requiring a great deal of attention, and on Friday night, after being secured in a "night jacket," in order to prevent her from using her arms, she was assigned a bed in the hall on the fourth story. She managed in some way, doubtless with her teeth, in getting rid of her "night jacket," and made the attempt to escape which resulted in her death. The hall in which she slept is located a water closet, in which there is a window, about eighteen inches wide, and not more than six inches higher than an ordinary window. The sashes are so arranged that they can be locked or lowered but a few inches, the upper sash being maintained in position at a distance as the lower one is hoisted. The woman seems to have provided herself with a rope, which she had secreted, and in a manner considerable patience and labor, she succeeded in severing a portion of the sash sufficient to allow her pony frame, when permitted the hoisting of the sash a sufficient distance to allow her pony frame. Thus provided, she made a noose of the rope and fastened it around her neck, and the other end to the sash, and endeavored to make the descent to the ground. It was, indeed, a fearful one, and the poor woman fell from the window sill to the ground. She was discovered about four o'clock Saturday morning, and reported to the Superintendent of the Hospital. She was conscious for some time after her fall, and spoke a few words, but died from the effects of her injuries on Sunday morning, at 4 o'clock.

Heartlessness.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Vanhorn, a very cantankerous old man, twenty-five or eighty years of age, residing at the toll-gate beyond Oakland, and who is dependent upon the charity of his neighbors, was ruthlessly thrust from car No. 18 of the Oakland and East Liberty Passenger Railway, by the Conductor, Mr. Vanhorn, as the Conductor himself alleged, was allowed to ride on all the other cars free of charge, and could not pay his fare. Vanhorn, it appears, had been in the habit of riding free, and should be used, and we feel satisfied that the officers of the company would not have consented to the old man's riding free, but for the fact of Chauncey in Canada, maintaining their right to appropriate the whole book.

They would have the public infer that as the received these reports in manuscript as original, and paid for them as such, they are, therefore, innocent of guilty knowledge that the reports had been pirated. We take it that this inference is correct, may be judged from the circumstances of obtaining these reports and the amount of money their compilation cost. It was proven by the evidence of Messrs. Bradstreet's own employees that these Canada reports were obtained by one man in two months, that in short time they were increased from one thousand to twelve thousand, and that the total cost was eight hundred dollars. If Messrs. Bradstreet are in the habit of procuring their original reports as to the standing, character and responsibility of traders at the rate of two hundred per day from each of their agents and at an average cost of sixty-five cents per thousand words, they can judge for themselves, since then she hasn't been heard of. On Tuesday of last week the dead body of a child, a boy, was found in the river, at Allegheny, near the foot of Diamond street, and eleven blocks from Duquesne way. The child is about eight years of age, and has been in this country but eight days, coming from Hanover, Germany, where he has a farm, and leaves a wife and three children. He has relatives living in Allegheny, but none in the city. His effects have been taken charge of by the Coroner, who will write to his family.

Free Fight.

About four o'clock yesterday evening a "free fight" occurred on Penn street, near Stevens alley, in the Ninth ward. Knives, bricks, &c., were used freely, but, strange to say, no one was severely injured. Officer Bell was on the ground, and after quelling the row arrested one of the instigators. He was about to take him to the lock-up, when Frank Wall, not being satisfied, concluded to give him a "tap" before they parted, and struck him, whereupon officer Bell let go the man he had and took Wall, who was locked up for a hearing this morning.

Ferryville Race Course.—This very fine race course is in capital order, and is among the best in the country. It is, we believe, a half mile track, and is as smooth, even and solid as any over which we ever drove. It is destined, when properly known, to be one of the most popular courses in the neighborhood.

"Innocent Victims."

The following spicy correspondence appeared in the New York dailies of last week. As the matter possesses some interest, for the mercantile community, we reproduce the correspondence entire:

MERCANTILE AGENCY SCIENCE CARD.

In March, 1866, the firm of Dun, Wiman & Co., the Canada branch of R. G. Dun & Co., of this city, commenced an action against us in Canada, alleging that we had copied certain portions of their Canada volumes of Commercial Reports.

As neither of our firm had ever seen the book we were accused of copying, nor ever employed any one else, either directly or indirectly, to copy it, and as the person we employed to superintend the revision of Canada Reports for our book denied under oath having made any copies from other books, we deemed it unnecessary to take any notice of the new-paper reports so industriously circulated by our opponents, and quietly awaited the legal investigations, confidently believing they would be far more damaging to them than to us.

But the evidence at the late trial forces on us the unwilling conviction that the person who made the revision of Canada West for volume eighteen of our book had access to, and copied certain errors in Dun, Wiman & Co.'s book, or was made the dupe of a conspiracy on the part of certain parties who furnished reports for both agencies.

At any rate the reports we are accused of copying were furnished to us in manuscript as original, and paid for as such; and whatever our legal liability may be for the errors in letters, done without our knowledge or authority, we assure the mercantile community that we never have knowingly adopted, and never shall be willing to vouch for the errors of any other mercantile agency than our own.

Since the commencement of the suit our Canadian Reports have been thoroughly revised, and we take this occasion to invite those who desire the best book of commercial reports, to carefully compare ours with any other published, before renewing their subscription to either. The different books will speak for themselves.

REPLY.

In the above card Messrs. Bradstreet & Son deem it necessary to make the admission that the party who was employed in getting up their Canada reports to "certain errors" in Dun, Wiman & Co.'s book. It must strike the reader as somewhat singular that the errors only should have been copied, especially in view of the fact that the Messrs. Bradstreet are still before the public as the only Commercial Agency in the United States.

Speeches were made by George W. Babst, editor of the Advocate, Miles Humphreys, W. Krepts, Thomas Grundy, and W. S. Mathews. The speakers devoted a good share of their remarks to the importation, by the Canadian Reports, of laborers from Europe. It was charged that the immigrants had been deluded by false representations. One speaker said he had seen a letter from some of the immigrants were told by the agent who employed them in Europe, that they could easily make enough in a few months, in Pittsburgh, to support them for a whole year in comfort; they were also informed that they could rent houses in Birmingham for fifteen dollars per year, with sufficient ground attached to raise all the vegetables they could use. The general tone of the meeting was that the importation of the arts employed by the iron masters in the vicinity was impolitic.

The chairman, in adjourning the meeting, announced that there would be another meeting held on Saturday evening, at Diamond, Allegheny, at which time action would be had in the submission of a legislative petition to the Legislature of the county.

Violent Death of an Insane Patient.

Saturday morning Mrs. Annie Ballou, aged about forty-five years, an insane patient from Erie county, confined at the Hospital at Dixmont, in Ohio township, received injuries in attempting to escape which resulted in her death on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. She was one of the more troublesome inmates, very strong in her eyes, requiring a great deal of attention, and on Friday night, after being secured in a "night jacket," in order to prevent her from using her arms, she was assigned a bed in the hall on the fourth story. She managed in some way, doubtless with her teeth, in getting rid of her "night jacket," and made the attempt to escape which resulted in her death. The hall in which she slept is located a water closet, in which there is a window, about eighteen inches wide, and not more than six inches higher than an ordinary window. UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HON. H. W. WILLIAMS,

Of Allegheny County.

THE SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS.

Congress will convene in special session on Wednesday next. As is generally understood, the immediate reason for the assembling of the Houses at this time is the interpretation put upon the Reconstruction Acts by the Attorney General, and the attempt by the President to give that interpretation the force of law. This convocation under these existing circumstances, affords incontestible proof that the Executive Department, under a pretense of construing the laws, is really intent on abrogating them. None of the Senators or Representatives desired a mid-summer meeting; with perfect unanimity they hoped to avoid it But they knew what they designed, and what they actually expressed, when they framed and passed the laws in question; and they now feel that the President, failing to defeat the will of the representative bodies by the use of the veto power, has resolved arbitrarily to set the laws aside, while merely claiming to expound them.

This indicates the immediate task to which Congress will address itself. Its first object will be, by a Supplemental Act, to veto the President and the Attorney General, and in a manner that shall constrain them, however reluctantly, to respect the will of the nation, as embodied in the laws. Care will, doubtless, be taken to protect those district commanders whose sense of duty has led them to enforce the Reconstruction Acts in their obvious meaning, and who have thereby fallen under the displeasure of the President.

An effort will most likely be made to lay new and harsher conditions on the Southern States and people. It seems to us nothing has transpired to warrant or excuse increased severity. In no proper sense can the revolted States or their inhabitants be held answerable for the temper and conduct of the President and his constitutional advisers in the matter that now attracts attention. While it cannot be denied that many Southern men would gladly have the laws enforced as the President is pleased to understand them, rather than as Congress intended, and which it is palpable that some of them have appealed to the President to interpose with a high hand to frustrate the plain meaning of the laws, the great majority, including many of the most foremost and influential, have exhibited on all occasions a willingness to submit to the prescribed conditions. The testimony is pretty uniform that, notwithstanding some untoward indications, which demonstrate the wisdom of Congress and show the necessity of adhering to the existing laws, in the spirit in which they were conceived, much progress has been made in the work of Reconstruction, and that the consummation will transpire at an early day if the President shall be compelled to keep within the line of his duty.

So, too, it is not improbable the effort will be made to further the impeachment of the President. He has certainly played into the hands of those who love him not, and made it more apparent than ever before that he is not a man fit to be trusted with large measures of authority. But he has not gone to the extreme point at which he aimed in making the movement which aroused the indignation of the nation. Instead of ordering the military commanders to adopt his interpretation of the laws, he has stopped short by simply requesting them to perform particular acts, which they feel to be in contravention of the meaning of Congress. It may be urged, and not without pertinency, that "the request of a king is equivalent to a command." But for the attitude of the people and the convocation of Congress, these presidential requests would have the effect of positive orders. Still, the President has so far receded, as in the popular judgment—perhaps in a technical sense likewise—not to have thrust himself into flagrant and criminal antagonism with Congress. His achievement has fallen short of his original purpose.

In some quarters, and those not altogether without influence upon the course of public affairs, it is urged that Congress should revise or abrogate the National Banking System, and even proceed so far as to remodel the whole financial policy. The weak points of the Banking System are subjected to slashing criticism, many of the banks are declared to be insolvent, and a speedy crash is oracularly predicted. That the Banks have altogether the better of the Government in the bargain between them as contracting parties, hardly admits of debate. Every man of reflection and judgment, who has bestowed thought upon the matter, knows this to be the fact. Here and there a Bank has given evidence that its directors were incompetent or dishonest; perhaps smitten with both infirmities. But, on the whole, the system has so worked as not to create a necessity for giving it precipitate attention at the adjourned session. It is better, on all accounts, to let financial questions rest until the regular term in December. This postponement will have a good effect upon all sorts of business pursuits during the summer and fall. It is of vital consequence that the new crops should be harvested and reach the markets, in good part, before unnecessary financial uncertainties are introduced to impede the process.

We doubt not that, in substance, the views herein expressed will prove to be those of a majority of the members of the two Houses. Consequently a session of only a few days may be anticipated. The immediate and pressing work will be done, and well done, and no more will be entered upon.

THE SHERIDAN LETTER.

The democratic journals are deeply exercised over the contents of General SHERIDAN's letter to Gen. GRANT, and over the circumstances that it appeared in print before reaching the table of the superior officer to whom it was addressed. The contents they allege evince insubordination towards the President as the commander-in-chief of the army; the publication of it discourtesy towards Gen. GRANT, as next in military rank to the President. In thus setting up as critics upon good manners in general, and upon military etiquette in special, the democratic journals have taken the country by surprise. But this must be taken as another illustration of the constantly recurring fact, that people are prone to plume themselves in matters of taste, on points of which they actually know nothing.

Let us see how the case really stand in respect to the President. That high functionary, instead of ordering Gen. SHERIDAN to extend the time for registration, simply directed him to do so unless, in his own judgment, good reasons existed for not doing so. Such reasons did exist in the mind of the General, and he frankly stated what they were; but added, that if the President, after considering the reasons, deemed them insufficient, he would, upon notification to that effect, immediately issue orders to extend the time. So far, there is no reasonable pretext for the charge of insubordination. The President left the matter to the discretion of the General, and the General did as he thought best, but still deferring to the judgment of the President.

Gen. SHERIDAN ventured to say that he had been "ordered to execute a law to which the President has been in bitter antagonism." Nobody will deny that this statement is literally correct. The President put his antagonism to the law on record in his veto message, and has made no concealment since. Is it an act of insubordination to state a fact which all the world knows, and which no one presumes to deny?

General SHERIDAN might have gone farther, and insisted that the President had no business to interfere with his execution of the law according to his best judgment. He is at New Orleans to enforce the law as it stands; not as the President may see proper to construe it. The law is his guide, not the will of the Executive. We doubt not, before many days shall elapse, Congress will make this point so plain that even the President will see it, and comprehend that he is guilty of insubordination in attempting to control the district commanders in the performance of this particular duty.

It is not conceivable that Gen. SHERIDAN intended any disrespect to General GRANT in publishing the letter as soon as it was dispatched. Unquestionably it was important the determination not to extend the time for registration should be known to the people, and the publication of the letter seemed to be the best method for making the condition of the case understood. General SHERIDAN took one view of the requirement of military civility in the premises, while Gen. GRANT is reported to take another. Which of them would be adjudged right by a Board of army officers it is not our province to determine. In private matters, however, we have always found it a safe rule not to attribute an act to disrespect unless the attending circumstances make it clear that disrespect is intended.

In his course at New Orleans, General SHERIDAN has the sympathies of most loyal men warmly enlisted in his support; and his removal because of the letter in question will be popularly judged an act of unpardonable severity.

AT ST. LOUIS, Mr. Chandler, U. S. Senator for Michigan, reiterated, with larger amplifications, his proposition for seizing Canada. This time, he was content with nothing less than the whole continent. He was for seizing territory at the South as well as at the North, until the whole continent should be absorbed. However, he seemed to have Mr. Webster's escapade in mind. That gentleman, in his cups, once proposed to seize Canada on the next fourth of July. When he sobered, he discovered he had made a fool of himself, and betook himself to the task of explaining away his folly. Certainly, he would seize Canada provided Great Britain did not do what was right, and would make the seizure, not on the next fourth of July, but on some anniversary of the national independence. So Mr. Chandler avows his purpose to steal all the territory he covets, on the right hand and on the left, but does not mean to consummate the villainy this year. He is in no hurry about it. One year, two years or five years hence will do; or even more, if the proper time happens not to turn up.

Mr Chandler will find a strong sentiment of common honesty in the Republican ranks, standing in the way of his projects of grand larceny whenever he shall undertake to put them into execution.

Doubtless the American people will sustain their Government in enforcing the Alabama claims; but they have little respect for a Senator who proposes that the negotiation shall be prosecuted with an uplifted bludgeon. Gentlemen do not attempt the adjustment of differences in that manner; nor do they yield to threats of violence which only ruffians are capable of making.

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES

EDITORS GAZETTE:—Two editorial leaders in your paper of late have attracted my attention with much force, "Legislative Corruption" and "Legislative Candidates." I consider your strictures timely and just.

It is a burning shame and disgrace that a people as intelligent and moral as those of this Commonwealth should be so mis rably mis represented in the halls of her Legislature.

You have some good men and true, but the majority are weak, immoral and totally unfit for the places they occupy.

It is high time the people should arise and take the business of nominating and electing candidates for the Legislature into their own hands, instead of leaving it to office seekers, who are intent on nothing but to serve their own ambitious purposes for filthy lucre's sake, or the name of holding an office.

In our county a nomination by the Republican party is equivalent to an election. With the ambitious office seeker, then, the chief end is to be nominated. To accomplish this, his time, money and friends are taxed sufficiently to secure the end. Time, he generally has, for politics is his business. He may be short of money, but that can be made up if he gets the nomination. As to friends, he finds them by promising to do a good turn when he gets through.

These primary meetings, as generally conducte., are a farce. Delegates are selected by the candidates for office before the people assemble. Then the whole affair of election of delegates is usually irregular, and without due form, as required in a regular election. Then comes the regular legal election and confirms what this Nominating Convention has done, got up in this irregular way.

I will not now attempt to reconstruct the nominating conventions or the method by which they are brought together, but I may be permitted to suggest that it would be a great improvement to the machinery, if the people could so far control these primary meetings as to refuse to send into a convention a delegate who had already pledged himself to vote for any office seeker, who had already advertised himself as being a candidate for public favor, or who was in a more private way importuning the public or delegates in convention for their votes. I would say, the people or their delegates, seek the candidate and not the candidate the office.

It is often said, that good, capable men will not serve if elected to office. This is an assertion that requires proof.

I have resided in Allegheny county for more than a third of a century, and in a business more or less public, and have some acquaintance with good, capable men. I could name to you, more than a score, whom, if I were to name to you, you would say they are every way without reproach—men of high order, every way capable of representing the county in her State Legislature. These men, if it were signified to them, that a majority of their fellow citizens desired their services as legislators, or in almost any other office, they would not dare to refuse taking their turn in the service of their fellow citizens. But they will not advertise themselves, nor solicit others to do so. Their services, to be obtained, must be sought, just as the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would seek an officer or agent to manage the most intricate and important part of their corporation. ELECTOR.

PITTSBURGH, June 24th.

Barbara Frietchie, of Frederick.

As soon as we left the carriage we walked to our stopping place, polite Mr. Shaw's City Hotel, to see the house of Barbara Frietchie, immortalized by Whittier. As his works have come to pass: "Barbara Frietchie's days are over, And the Rebel rides on his raids no more," so we could not learn the truth from her—but if the thing is a myth, as some say of John Burns' fighting at Gettysburg, then one of the most charming episodes of the rebellion is a fable. A dear old relative, one o the staunchest and truest and most trusting women of the North, died glorying in the bravery and patriotism of true representative woman, Barbara, and it would be sad if any ruthless pen should deprive the public of their belief in a glorious deed so nobly commemorated in verse.

Barbara's house is a curious but pretty old fashioned structure. It is a one story high roofed little dwelling, with two attic windows on the street, (from one of which the owner waived the national flag in Jackson's face,) and with strange back buildings immediately on Carroll Run. It is attractive not only in shape, but appearance, in its fresh coat of bright red paint, standing at the city end of the bridge across the run.—From a Frederick, Md., Letter to the N. Y. Gazette.

—The Clevelanders are troubled with a man going about the streets there with but one leg, and that drawn up so that he has to do most of his walking with his hands. The Herald says he is worth $100,000, his property being in New York.

Assassination of Rulers.

The divinity that Shakespeare affirms to hedge a king, is not much regarded in this country, and the heads that wear crowns must lie more uneasily than ever in view of the following facts: Even Queen Victoria has been four times attacked. There have been at least six plots to assassinate the Emperor Napoleon. In October, 1852, when Napoleon was at Marseilles, an infernal machine, formed by 250 gun barrels, charged with 1,500 balls, was to have been discharged against the Prince and his cortege; but the design was not carried out. On July 5, 1853, a fresh attempt was made to assassinate him as he was going to the Opera Comique. On April 28, 1855, Jean Liverani fired two shots at the Emperor in the Grand avenue of the Champs Elysees. In 1857, Thibaldi, Bartolotti, and Grilli, came from England to Paris to assassinate the Emperor, but were discovered, arrested, tried, and punished. On January 14, 1858, Orsini, Gomez, Pieri, and Rudio, threw their shells at the Emperor. On December 24, 1863, Greco, Trabucco, Imperatore, and Scaglioni, who had gone from London with the intention of killing the French Emperor, were arrested in Paris. The King of Prussia was fired at by Oscar Becker, a law student of Leipsic, at Baden, on the 14th of July, 1861, and his Minister, Bismarck, had last year a narrow escape from young Blunk. The Emperor of Austria, on February 18, 1853, was struck with a knife in the neck by a Hungarian named Libeny; in 1858 an attempt was made on the life of Victor Emmanuel; and the Queen of Spain has been twice assailed. There is something very remark ble in the almost invariable failure of these attempts. In recent times only two rulers have fallen victims to assassination—the Duke of Parma, who, in 1854, was stabbed with a poignard in the abdomen; and Abraham Lincoln, who was shot by Booth on April 14, 1865.

Black Death Plague.

The horrors of the Black Death, which swept all Europe in its terrible course, are five centuries old, and exist only in legendary history and tradition. The Plague came somewhat nearer one day and left a more definite record of itself. But it is a long time since the Western nations have been smitten by the scourge of God with the severity of former days. The cholera has been regular in its visitation, but its ravages have been comparatively light. It appears, however, that a strange and terribly fatal disease exists in Ireland, and has existed there for some seventeen months, which has a striking similarity to that King of Plagues, the Black Death. The peculiar distinction of this unknown malady, which, in other respects, resembles a wonderfully active fever, consists in the appearance of purple spots upon the body of the patient, which spread over his person and increase in depth of color until death. The rapidity with which the disease progresses to a fatal conclusion, is remarkable; in some instances not more than four hours elapsing between the attack and the death of the sufferer. In other cases the patient has lingered for several days, and in a less violent phase of the malady a sickness of several weeks has been followed by recovery. The average is about eighteen hours from the first indications of illness. In some cases the patients preserved their senses up to the very hour of collapse; others became incoherent, and others died in the greatest agony. The disease is plainly contagious. A soldier engaged in the Fenian insurrection died of the disease, and shortly after his washerwoman and her children were prostrated with the same malady. Its nature is unknown, and its remedy of course impossible to be found. Meanwhile the death-rate in Dublin is steadily and rapidly increasing from this mysterious complaint. Are we to have a Black Death in the nineteenth century?

Another Curious Case of Trance.

At Danville, N. Y., a little girl named Robinson, aged about 10 years, was seized, after dinner, with a sort of fit, her muscles becoming as stiff as a board. Her jaws were firmly locked, the abdominal muscles hard, the toes drawn to the bottoms of the feet, the fingers tightly clenched and drawn into the palms of the hands, and the entire form so rigid that she could be raised on end by the head or feet like a stick. At the same time her forearms were revolving around each other with a rapidity that no well person could imitate. This motion continued for about half a day. Her respiration and the circulation of the blood continued normal. In this strange condition she continued about seven weeks without taking a particle of nourishment, although every effort was made to introduce food, in a liquid form, through an opening made by extracting a tooth, or by injections. The only medical agent that could soften the muscles was chloroform, and the effects of an application lasted only four or five minutes. Once she opened her eyes and replied to a question from her father: "Are you sick, Susan?" "Yes, father, I am very sick, and going to die." A liniment composed of chloroform, ammonia, camphor and turpentine was finally resorted to, and the entire skin made red with the friction, the use of which, after a few days, seemed to relax the muscular rigidity, and she at last became able to make signs for food. About seven days after she opened her eyes and recovered the full use of her faculties, and is now as well and as hearty as ever.

—The fruit of the Chinese soap tree, which forms an important article of commerce in the northern part of China, is becoming more and more valuable, and lately it has been planted in thousands on the highest mountain ranges in appropriate parts of the East Indies. The seed furnishes a soap-like product, with which trials, as to its applicability as a greasing material, have been made on the Pundya Railroad. This soap is well adapted for burning, and gives a bright smell and smokeless flame.

NO NAME.

MANY, many people, suffer from they know not what. They are not sick—they are not well, there is no name for it. It is simply weakness—a breaking down of the vital forces. Whatever its causes, (and they are innumerable,) its symptoms remain the same. Among the most prominent are extreme nausea, loss of appetite, loss of flesh and great mental depression. Indigestion and a Stomach Cough are also frequently concomitants of this distressing state of body and mind. The common remark in relation to persons in such a condition is, that they are consumptive. Now, while these unfortunates really want is vigor, vital strength, and as certainly as dawn succeeds darkness, they can regulate their systems and regain perfect health by resorting to "USE'S CELEBRATED BITTERS. It is as clear as a bell, a life-reviving tonic, healing in its influence, and the dying flame of an emaciated lamp requires to be revived with a new supply of oil. Perfectly pure and innocent, containing no thing but the most genial vegetable extracts, and combining the three grand elements of all medicine, alterative, and a genial invigorant, USE'S BITTERS are suitable to all constitutions, and are as applicable to the diseases and disabilities of the feeble sex as to those of men.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the cold and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inner bark of the pine tree, called PINUS CANADENSIS WILD CHERRY AND TAR COMPOUND, which is one of certainties in all doubtful cases of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, exhaling them to remain their natural tone and energy. It will be found unadapted to all those diseases where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise a sure antidote to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who do not at first say they took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected a radical cure of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years' standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Ash Goodnow, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in demorrhages, chest, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and corpulent inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, or disgusting, it is very delightful to the appetite and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Look for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For pulmonary complaints, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine store, 140 Wood street. apr25

THE COURTS

Court of Quarter Sessions.

[Fourth Week.]

This Court met Saturday at ten o'clock, Hon. Thomas Mellon and E. H. Stowe, on the bench.

VERDICT IN THE OIL CASE.

The jury in the case of William Hays, indicted for obtaining money under false pretences, on complaint of Mrs. Agnes Cauley, returned a verdict of "not guilty, and the defendant to pay costs."

ASSAULT AND BATTERY WITH APPLE BUTTER.

Adam Lang, of Allegheny City, convicted of assault and battery, by throwing a jar of apple butter at a neighbor, with whom he quarrelled, was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars and costs.

PLEAD GUILTY.

Conrad Kane was indicted for assault with intent to steal from a woman in the Diamond market. Col. Duff, District Attorney, accepted the plea of guilty of assault, and defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars and the costs.

THE ——— CASE.

Martin McDonald, convicted of unlawfully wounding C. W. McClintock in a fight at Patrick Dunn's tavern, in Elms, Shaler township, was sentenced to pay the costs and a fine of twenty dollars.

DUQUESNE WAY ROBBERY.

John Sinclair, the accomplice of James Pender in robbing a stranger from Venango county, in Duquesne Way, bank of the Allegheny River, a week or two since, was sentenced to undergo four years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $50.

FURTHER WEARING.

Several witnesses were examined on behalf of James Sweeney, the man convicted of outrageously beating Peter Woods, on Sunday, a week since, with a view of establishing the fact that he was not the person who committed the offense. There seems to be some doubt in the matter, but the District Attorney said he would be able to clear it up by Saturday next, to which time the Court deferred its decision on the motion for a new trial.

ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO STEAL.

William Messick, convicted of assault with intent to steal from Matthew Harbison at Wycoff's tavern, in South Pittsburgh, on the evening of the Hamill-Brown scull race, was also sentenced. The conviction in this case, as was stated, was a matter of surprise to the District Attorney and the Court, the evidence of intent to steal being by no means of a conclusive nature. The defendant was in liquor, and it seemed fair to presume that drunken familiarity was the extent of his offending. He was sentenced to ten days imprisonment.

No other criminal business was transacted.

In the Court of Common Pleas, Saturday, Judge Stowe granted a decree divorcing David Richey from bonds of matrimony with Nancy Richey. The grounds upon which the divorce was asked, and which were fully established, were that the parties were related within the degrees of consanguinity forbidden by the Act of Assembly, the wife being the sister of her husband's father, and consequently aunt to her husband, while he was her nephew. The father of the petitioner (the husband) resides in Moultrie township, and upon the death of his wife his sister came to him as housekeeper. An intimacy sprung up between him son and her, which ripened into marriage, the ceremony being performed by Alderman Neillie, of Allegheny City, on the 19th of March, 1858. At the time of the marriage the woman went by the name of Shanks, that of her deceased husband. The aunt and nephew lived together as man and wife, having two children, until 1861, when they separated. In granting the decree Judge Stowe refused to award to the petitioner allowance for expenses incurred in securing the divorce, and intimated that the parties should have been arrested for a criminal offense.

Keeping a Bawdy House.—Robert Moorehead appeared before Alderman Miller, and charged Blanch Howard, Elizabeth Hosmer and others with keeping a bawdy house. On the parties beside Howard coming to David Moss and severely bitten on the arm. Mr. Pfinger went before Alderman McMasters, and made information against Moss, charging him with keeping a ferocious dog. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Hand Crushed—Henry White, aged about seven years, son of a widow, residing in Spring Alley, near the Union Depot, had his right hand crushed by a car wheel passing over it, on Friday, while he was in the act of picking his cap from the railroad track, where it had been thrown by a companion with which he was playing. Dr. Walter amputated the hand.

—The Dallas (Texas) Herald recently mentioned the organization of a company at Waxahachie for the purpose of working the Copper mines discovered in Jack county. The Herald says some of the best geologists in the State have examined and tested the yield, who pronounce the ore to be the richest and most abundant of any ever yet discovered. It has also been tested in New Orleans, New York and Baltimore, and found to produce from 60 to 61 per cent copper.

—The Galveston (Texas) Bulletin says that a desperado named Daniel G. Davis, shot a negro named Pickett in cold blood at Richmond, on the 8th inst. Davis was on a spree. Mounting his horse, he rode through the street, swearing that he would "kill a nigger." The first that he met was not injured, Davis saying that he was "too good to be shot." A short distance off he saw Pickett sitting on a door-step, whittling. He at once shot him through the heart. He was at once arrested by the officers of the Freedmen's Bureau and committed to jail, without bail.

—The female sex, after much agitation, have gained a point in Holland. The Minister of the Interior has issued a decree admitting them to the examination for the position hitherto restricted exclusively to men. This measure will enable the Holland doctors to have their prescriptions made up by their wives or daughters, and will thus relieve them from the charges of a male assistant. The decree has been received with a good deal of astonishment by the male pursuasion at the Hague, who look upon this as the beginning of a systematic invasion of masculine privileges.

—A certain doctor, when called to children, no matter what might be the symptoms, always prescribed for ones and the same malady—worms. Being summoned one day to the bedside of a little boy, he gravely sat down, and having felt the patient's pulse, looked up gravely through his spectacles and said to his mother in a solemn tone, "Worms, madam; worms." To which the mother responded, "I'll tell ye doctor, that boy hain't got a single worm. He stumbled over a stick of wood and broke his leg, and I want it set quick." The doctor, not at all nonplussed, but still determined to vindicate his theory, put on a very solemn look as he said, "Worms, madam, I assure you—worms in the wood."

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by John Travers, M. D. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from an excess of mercury he states that no remedy has ever been found in the Extract of Sarsaparilla its power in extraordinary cases, more than one other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic and alterative, and, that it is peculiarly applicable in a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the same class objectionable.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 29, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 139½; Eighty-twos, 113; Five Twenties, 1862, 106¾; Five Twenties, 1864, 107¼; Five Twenties, 1865, 107½; 1865 Consols, 110¾; Seven Thirties, 106½; Ten Forties, 106¾; Michigan Southern Railroad, 78½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 86; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 103½; Erie, 67; Chicago and Northwestern, 42½; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 61; New York Central, 104½; Reading, 109; Chicago and Rock Island, 93½; Cumberland, 2,50; Quartz Hill, 1,85; Gregory, 7,20; Smith & Parmelee, 4,40; Western Union Telegraph, 49½.

Government securities declined about ¼ per cent., with the exception of Consols, which advanced ¼. Mining shares are better, and there is a firm feeling in Quartz Hill, once a favorite stock at 4,50@5,00, but lately creeping up from 1,40@1,85. Railroad shares are still excited, but the advance is checked by heavy sales to realize, and the market is likely to take a downward turn before any advance can be established. The next session of Congress, will, to a great extent, influence the stock market. Outsiders generally are withdrawing from Wall street. Gold is very firm at 138¾@139, with large sales; however, there is more disposition to sell than to buy, under heavy disbursements by the Government on Monday next.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady:

U. S. Sixes, 1881	113
" " 1864	107
" " 1865	107½
" 10-40s	100½
6 Consols	106¾
August 7-30s	106½
June 7-30s	106½
July 7-30s	106½
Gold Compounds, 1864	137½
July Compounds, 1864	138½
August Compounds, 1865	134½

—It is now stated that the Secretary of the Treasury says that "the Department has not deemed it advis ble to issue any bonds of the date of August 15, 1867, but as a near approximation to that date, more convenient to the Government and equally desirable to its creditors, a bond issue authorized by the act of March 4, 1865, and bearing the date of July 1 1867, has been prepared and will shortly be ready. The precise time for commencing such issue has not yet been determined, but the department will receive for conversion 7-30 notes maturing in August, and where the letter of transmittal expressly requests in return the 5-20 bonds of 1867, the issue will be made accordingly, as soon as the bonds are ready, and in the order of receipt of the notes.

—The July meeting of Congress is looked for with interest in the street under the impression that some financial legislation may be attempted. The beginning session will be largely occupied in financial discussion and before Congress adjourns next summer the National Banking Law will probably be modified if specie payments are desired. As the law now stands these institutions are merely holders of and jobbers in United States securities, and they have ceased to be banks in the true meaning of the word. They can only be made equal to the wants of the community by abolishing their power to issue circulation, and giving the people a uniform currency of legal tender redeemable to coin by the Treasury. This may be effected by the gradual the redemption of the entire National Bank currency, and paying the banks for all the bonds held by them, as security for circulation their fair market value, defaulting the circulation issued upon them. By this process the Government will save a large amount of interest in gold, improve the character of the currency, and, instead of monopolizing the bank capital of the country, allow it to be used by various industries of the people. The system be by no means free from the grasp of banks and some of the most powerful banks in New York would at once return to the State law, did they not dread the Congressional interference.—N. Y. Tribune.

—The apprehensions of monetary stringency, in consequence of the preparations of the National banks for their quarterly returns on the 1st proximo, are likely to prove ill-founded. The Boston banks are fully able (in at of them) from day to day to meet the wants of their regular customers, at 6@7 per cent., the discounts at the latter figure, with the exception at 6¾ per cent considerably outnumbering those at 6. The supply of strictly first-class commercial paper offering continues light, while there is an abundance of paper considered good (but styles) somewhat less by anxious holders in the open market at 7 to 8 per cent. Inferior grades range from 8½ to 10 per cent. The e is no difficulty in obtaining loans on Government paper, return at call on demand. The impression is gaining ground that after next week the ease in the money market will be increased by the disbursements of the railroad and manufacturing corporations, although the effect of these dividends is apt to be overrated—much of the stock is held in large sums by wealthy parties, and the payments consisting of a movement of checks, the money remaining in the bank vaults. The Government will pay out, it is said, some eighteen millions of gold during the month of July, which will be immediately sold—provided the market takes a downward turn—and the currency obtained in exchange for it will pass into circulation. At this tranquil season of the commercial year, much less currency will suffice to transact the business of the country than will be wanted three or four months hence, and it is believed that there will be a superabundance of idle capital at all the money centers between the views of buyers and sellers and the consequent inactivity of the trade. The payment of the July dividends will throw a large amount of unemployed capital upon the market, and this will add still further to the prevailing ease. But the simultaneous disbursements of eighteen millions of gold by the Treasury, in payment of the July coupons, will quicken, to some extent, the movement of capital.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

The "bubble" in the Flour and Grain market seems to have exploded, at least such is the inference from the character of the advices from both east and west, on Friday, and while it is probable that there will be other attempts made within the next thirty days to "bolster up," it will not amount to much, as with the utmost certainty of an abundant harvest, prices must go down. Our market was very quiet to-day, the operations in the leading commodities being restricted mainly to supplying immediate wants, while in values, there are no changes worthy of special notice.

GRAIN—Oats quiet but firm at 63@66c, on track, and 68@70c, in store. There seems to be more inquiry for Corn, but prices are unchanged—sale of 4 cars prime at 92c, in elevator. Rye is quiet and unchanged at $1,25. Barley is dull and nominal at $1@1,10. No movement in Wheat.

FLOUR—There is a fair local demand, but the market is less excited, and the transactions are mainly of an unimportant character. We continue to quote at $11,50@12,25 for Spring Wheat; $12,75@13,50 for Winter Wheat, and $17,00 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,25@8,50.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet but steady, and Sugar Cured Hams are held firmly at 16½@17c; Shoulders, 9½c, and 11½@12½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides. Lard is quiet and dull but unchanged at 12@12½c. Dried Beef, 23½c, and Mess Pork, $23,00@22,50.

POTATOES—The receipts are again increasing, but with a fair demand, prices are maintained—$1,50 per bushel for Peach Blows, and $3,25@3,50 per bbl.

SALT—Is dull and neglected but unchanged.

BUTTER—There is not much inquiry, and the stock of prime fresh Butter is very light; common Butter is in good supply and very dull, the former may be quoted at 16@18c.

CHEESE—Is steady, with regular sales at 14@15c, according to quality—mostly at 14c @15c.

HAY—Is dull but unchanged. We continue to quote at $18@22 per ton, as to quality.

OIL—Lard Oil is still quoted by manufacturers at 80@82c for No. 2, and $1,05@1,06 for No. 1.

SEED BUCKWHEAT—Is in fair demand, and we can report sales at $2@2,25 per bush.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues very dull but unchanged—6@6½c for Apples, and 9@12 for Peaches, in small lots.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

CRUDE—The market has been quiet during the past week, the sales, in the aggregate, being comparatively light, though there is a decidedly firmer feeling for spot oil as well as future deliveries. Last week there were sales of spot oil at 6@6¼c, while to-day, it was held at 7c, and the same figure was asked to arrive on first water, and to the same time a modest request on the part of the seller, for a margin to be advanced by the buyer. For all the year 1868, there are buyers at 12½c, buyers option, but no sellers. The reason for this stiffening up may be attributed to the fact that the impression is gaining ground that prices cannot and will not go much lower, and, consequently, those who have been waiting for the market to touch bottom, some of them at least, have concluded that the time has about arrived for them to "pitch in." There is not much inquiry on the part of refiners, as they, generally, are pretty well stocked, but there are "outsiders" who have an idea that oil has good and safe investment at present prices, and it is this speculative feeling more than anything else that keeps the market steady, and were it not for this, it is altogether likely that prices would go still lower, and it may be that they will, but the indications do not point in that direction at this time.

REFINED—There has been considerable excitement in bonded oil during the past week, brought about by apprehensions of a "corner" in the east, and spot, as well as July deliveries, have advanced from one to one and a half cents per gallon, and even at the advance, there are but few sellers. Last week we had been reported at 21½@22c for spot, and 22c for July, while yesterday and to-day the former could probably have been sold at 24c, and the latter might have brought 24½ or even 24¾. For the later months, however, there seems to be no improvement, and in the event of eastern buyers being unable to honor their July contracts, it is thought that spot oil will drop back to where it was previous to the recent "flurry."

ARRIVALS—We have but a single arrival to record, 313 bbls for Capt. Jas. Wilkins.
